"I am excited to welcome Deb to the Board and look forward to her customer-focused perspective as Groupon continues to grow and evolve," said Chairman Eric Lefkofsky. "At the same time, I'd like to thank Brad and Jeff for their long service. Both have made innumerable contributions to Groupon -- Brad as a co-founder and Jeff as an experienced digital executive. We wish them the very best and thank them again for making Groupon and the Board stronger."

Wahl's resume includes more than 20 years of high-level marketing and brand work. In addition to her time at McDonald's, Wahl also served as Senior Vice President and CMO for the PulteGroup, one of the country's largest homebuilders, and also held a number of senior roles at Ford, Toyota and Chrysler.

"Groupon's focus on building the world's largest local marketplace and innovating on behalf of the customer makes this an exciting time," said Wahl. "I look forward to joining a very strong Board and working with a talented management team on the company's further success."

CEO Rich Williams said Wahl brings a critical customer-first mentality and considerable experience in growing some of America's top brands.

"Building an unmatched customer experience and a leading brand are key components to building the daily habit in local," Williams said. "Deb will add valuable expertise and guidance as we continue to invest in our customers and merchants."
